MARINE ECOLOGY – PROGRESS SERIES

History: 'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' was established in response to requests from numerous marine ecologists from all over the world. The series is based on 'Marine Ecology' – the first comprehensive, integrated treatise on life in oceans and coastal waters – conceived, organized and edited by Professor Otto Kinne and published by Wiley & Sons.

Aim: It is the aim of 'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' to update, deepen, widen or correct the information presented thus far. While the initiative for planning reviews for 'Marine Ecology' has been the domain of the editor, the Progress Series invites the initiative of advisors and authors. In this way, it is hoped to broaden the original concept and to continuously adjust it to the interests and demands of marine ecologists. Ecological research has become of paramount importance for man's future. The information presented here should, therefore, encourage critical application of ecological knowledge for the benefit of mankind and, in fact, of life on earth.
'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' strives for

- complete coverage of the field of marine ecology
- the highest possible quality of papers
- quick publication
- a high technical standard of presentation.

These goals can be achieved only in close cooperation with contributors, advisors and readers. Hence, criticism and advice are cordially invited (please address to the editor).

Scope: 'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' is international and interdisciplinary. Presenting original papers, short notes and reviews, it has been created for prompt publication of contributions concerned with (see also last pages of each issue):

I. Environmental Factors: Tolerances and responses of marine organisms (microorganisms, autotrophic plants, and animals) to variations in abiotic and biotic components of their environment; radioecology.

II. Physiological Mechanisms: Synthesis and transversion of organic material (mechanisms of auto- and heterotrophy); thermo-, ion-, osmo- and volume regulation; stress resistance; non-genetic and genetic adaptation; population genetics; orientation in space and time; migrations; behaviour.

III. Cultivation: Maintenance and rearing of, as well as experimentation with, marine organisms under environmental and nutritional conditions which are, to a considerable degree, controlled; analysis of the physiological and ecological potential of individuals, populations and species; determination of nutritional requirements; ecological aspects of aquaculture; water-quality management; culture technology.

IV. Dynamics: Production, transformation, and decomposition of organic matter in marine ecosystems; food webs; trophic interrelations; population dynamics; plankton ecology; benthos ecology; estuarine and coastal ecology; wadden-sea ecology; coral-reef ecology; deep-sea ecology; open-ocean ecology; polar ecology; theoretical ecology; ecological modelling; evolution.

V. Ocean Management: Organismic zonations and assemblages; worldwide marine organic resources; all aspects of fisheries; pollution of marine environments; protection of life in the seas; management of populations, species, ecosystems and sea areas.

Price per volume: 195 DM plus postage and handling. Air-mail service available at special rate. For their personal use, individual members of scientific institutions can subscribe to 'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' at a substantially reduced price, providing they contribute as authors and their institutional library subscribes to the journal. Contact the publishers for details.

Subscription: Price per volume and number of volumes per annum are subject to change. For each calendar year both will be fixed towards the end of the preceding year. For further information write to Inter-Research, P.O.B. 1121, D-2083 Halstenbek, Federal Republic of Germany.

Appearance: Volume 1, 1979; Volumes 2–3, 1980. Each volume consists of 4 issues.

Manuscript Preparation, Mailing and Processing

Preparation

Original papers (in general not exceeding 10 printed pages), short notes (1–2 printed pages) and reviews (in general up to 40 printed pages) must be typewritten with double spacing. Wherever pertinent, contributions should take into account the information presented in 'Marine Ecology' emphasizing new information and perspectives, thus updating, deepening, widening or correcting the material already published.

Abstracts. Both original papers and reviews must be preceded by a brief, concise abstract. The abstract should summarize the results obtained and conclusions drawn, and be suitable for reprinting in reference periodicals.

Figures must be very carefully prepared, numbered and accompanied by brief, precise legends. For examples consult recent issues. Mark desired position of figures in the manuscript margin.

Tables should not be excessive in size. They must be numbered and be headed by brief, descriptive legends. Mark desired position of tables in the manuscript margin. Unusual symbols used must be explained.

Genus and species names: underline for italics.

Citation of literature. All literature quoted in the text must be listed, in alphabetical order of author names, at the end of the manuscript. Please abbreviate publications according to 'World List of Scientific Periodicals', latest edition, London. For examples of literature citation see below.

Mailing

Address manuscripts (original plus 2 copies) to an advisor or to the editor. For safety use registered mail. The receipt of a manuscript will be acknowledged immediately.

Processing

Manuscripts are critically reviewed. The editor then decides on acceptance or rejection. Acceptable manuscripts are usually returned to the author requesting consideration of comments and criticism.

When an accepted manuscript is ready for publication, the author will be notified and the date of manuscript acceptance fixed. This date appears at the end of each printed contribution.

The author receives 2 sets of proofs directly from the printer. Printing errors must be carefully corrected. At this stage, stylistic changes are not acceptable without compensatory payment. Please return 1 set of proofs to the editor (where applicable by air mail).

Offprints: Sixty offprints of each contribution will be made available free of charge. Any number of additional offprints can be purchased. Orders for additional offprints must be made when returning the proof. For reprint prices consult the form accompanying the proofs.

'Marine Ecology – Progress Series' levies no page charge.
